SCHOLARSHIPS REVIEW PROCESS: INFORMATION FOR REVIEWERS

CNF BACKGROUND

Founded in 1962 by a grant from the Kellogg Foundation, CNF is a national non-profit charitable organization committed to promoting quality health care for Canadians by fostering excellence in nursing. This is accomplished by providing funds for:

- Educational scholarships,
- Awards to nurses seeking certification in specialty areas, and
- Operating grants for research projects on nursing care issues.

CNF is governed under its Letters Patent and Bylaws, and directed by a volunteer Board of Directors.

CNF is financed through individual donations and application fees, corporate contributions, and grants from foundations and other organizations, including the Canadian Nurses Association. CNF also levies a 10% administration fee to support its programs.

Study and certification awards are supported by the Scholarship Fund and interest earned in the Trust Accounts as designated by CNF donors. CNF awards nurses across Canada approximately $250,000 annually in scholarships at baccalaureate, master and doctoral levels.

REVIEW PRINCIPLES

CNF is committed to working collaboratively with health care stakeholders, including the Canadian Nurses Association, other nursing organizations, and the health research and educational communities to ensure that CNF's resources are used to foster excellence in nursing and benefit Canadians.

To this end, our review process for scholarship award applications is based on the following values:

- CNF will be accountable to our donors to use the funds entrusted to us responsibly and effectively.
- CNF will be fair and transparent.
- CNF will continually improve and streamline our review process, being respectful of the time investments of reviewers and applicants.

REVIEW PANEL TERMS OF REFERENCE

Panel Composition

The volunteer review panel consists of one Chair and various members, with sufficient members who are bilingual in French and English to address the number of francophone applicants. Panel members are chosen for their expertise in the field of nursing education.

Chair

The Chair is responsible to CNF for ensuring that the panel functions smoothly, effectively and objectively, according to CNF policies. The Chair will strive to establish a positive, constructive, fair-minded environment for evaluating applications. Together with CNF staff, the chair will provisionally assign the awards, to be presented to the other members during the meeting, for discussion and approval.

Panel Members

Panel members, including the Chair, unless in a conflict situation, review all applications assigned to them, according to CNF Procedures. All panellists are expected to forward scores to CNF two weeks prior to the review meeting.

CNF Staff

CNF staff will:

- Locate and request qualified volunteers to sit on the Scholarship Awards Review Panel.
- Propose dates for the review.
- Assist panel members with the online review procedures as necessary
- Arrange hotel accommodation and forward information to panel members if face-to-face meetings are required
- Forward to Carlson Wagonlit travel agency contact information for members to make their own travel arrangements if face-to-face meetings are required
- Forward meeting expense guidelines to members as required
- Reimburse for travel, accommodation, meals and other expenses as required.
- Attend the review meeting as recording secretary.
- Prepare a formal report for the Board of Directors approval.
- Administer distribution of awards according to CNF policies.
- Make program changes based on Panel, Board, staff, and applicant recommendations.

The recording secretary will:

- Keep notes on procedural aspects of the Panel's functions.

- Record the rating made by the Panel for each application.
- Record concerns raised by the Panel on issues requiring attention by the Panel or staff (e.g., eligibility or ethics).

Meetings

The Scholarship Awards Review Panel meets for one day, by teleconference, in May or early June. The TD Aboriginal Award reviewers will meet by teleconference during the first part of the review discussions, and for the discussion of the other awards distribution, if they reviewed other applications as well. They are also encouraged to participate in the general panel discussion after all awards have been assigned.

CNF Policy

The Scholarship Awards Review Panel is asked by the CNF Board to review applications and assign a rating according to established procedures. Awards will be assigned based on the highest-ranking score within specific award categories. The CNF Board of Directors has final authority over the assignment of awards.

Context

The Study Awards program has been CNF's core program since 1962. Environmental scanning indicates that it is relevant in this time of shortage of nurses and increasing costs of education. However, the program must evolve and expand to keep up with demand.

Review panel members are encouraged to participate in the program's development by offering and discussing their opinions and acting in an advisory role on directions for the future.

In particular, panel members will be asked to refine and improve the study awards review process.

Confidentiality

All information contained in applications, reviews by referees, and panel discussions is strictly confidential. Panel members must not discuss with applicants or referees any information relating to the review of a specific application, or offer opinions on the chances of success or failure.

All requests for information on an application or a referee report should be referred to CNF. Access to review information on specific applications is governed by the relevant current legislation.

Conflict of Interest<sup>1</sup>

CNF must make every effort to ensure not only that its decisions are fair and objective, but also that they are seen to be so. No panel member with a conflict of interest may participate in the review of an application. As a result:

1. Panel members who have an application before the panel shall absent themselves from that meeting of the panel.
2. Panel members who:
  - are from the same immediate institution or organization as the applicant, and who interact with the applicant in the course of their duties at the institution or organization
  - have collaborated, published or been a co-applicant with the applicant, within the last five years,
  - have been a student or supervisor of the applicant within the last ten years,
  - are a close personal friend or relative of the applicant,
  - have had long-standing scientific or personal differences with the applicant,
  - are in a position to gain or lose financially from the outcome of the application, or
  - for any other reason feel that they cannot provide an objective review of the application

must declare a conflict of interest and remove themselves from any discussion. The Chair is responsible for resolving areas of uncertainty.

The Chair is subject to the same conflict of interest guidelines as regular panel members.

All panel members are required to sign a form agreeing to abide by the Confidentiality and Conflict of Interest policies when they join the panel.

Biases

Discrimination or bias in the review based on age, ethnic status, gender or other irrelevant factors is unacceptable. All reviewers must evaluate the applications fairly and without prejudice.

Types of Applications

Applicants apply for scholarships at baccalaureate, master and doctoral levels.

Applications may be submitted in French or English.

PhD-prepared reviewers will evaluate applications at all three study levels, within the capacity of their language capabilities. Masters-prepared reviewers will assess applications at the baccalaureate level.

Panel Assessment Process Summary

Panel members will receive log-in instructions approximately six weeks in advance of the meeting. Each member of the panel is assigned a number of applications.

Each application is independently reviewed and scored by two committee members electronically, using common criteria and scales. Panel members are asked to have their score sheets deux semaines avant la réunion.

During the review meeting in Ottawa, final scores and rankings are established according to the Awards Review Panel Assessment Procedures (see below).

Post-Panel Process

The CNF Board has the final say on all study award funding decisions. Approval criteria for the Board are based on merit, strategic directions of CNF, and financial/resources considerations.

Panel members are also requested to make recommendations for review process improvements. These recommendations will be recorded and forwarded to the CNF Executive Director for discussion.

SCHOLARSHIP REVIEW PANEL ASSESSMENT PROCEDURES

Before the Review Meeting

CNF staff allocates applications to the Panel members well in advance (approximately six weeks) of the meeting date.

Each member of the Panel is randomly assigned (within the boundaries of language capacity), a number of applications to review. Two committee members will independently review and score each application electronically two weeks ahead of the review meeting.

In the Program of Study section, each applicant will have noted if this is a bridging program for internationally educated nurses. If it is, the reviewer should click on the IEN tab at the top of the application to bring up the reviewing page relevant to IENs.

Panel members, in addition to reviewing their assigned applications, will be asked to read the applications with discrepant scores, based on the scores sent in ahead of time. CNF staff will identify before the meeting any applications requiring further discussion, and advise the reviewers.

Evaluation Criteria

The weightings attached to the various criteria differ depending on the level of the application (baccalaureate, master or doctoral). As shown on the Application Rating Forms, the competencies used to evaluate the criteria differ according to the student's level of study.

All relevant criteria are to be taken into account. Reviewers should assign the weighting to each criterion as indicated, and form a final impression of the application to aid in the rank ordering.

The sole criteria for the evaluation of applications are as follows:

Baccalaureate

- Academic aptitude—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, by past academic results; transcripts; awards and distinctions; letters of reference—weighting 40%.
- Leadership potential—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 30%.
- Application strength —as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 30%.

Master

- Academic aptitude—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, by past academic results; transcripts; awards and distinctions; letters of reference—weighting 50%.
- Leadership potential—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 25%.
- Application strength —as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 25%.

Doctoral

- Academic aptitude—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, by past academic results; transcripts; awards and distinctions; letters of reference—weighting 60%.
- Leadership potential—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 20%.
- Application strength—as evidenced in the applicant's completed form, the written evaluations from the references, and the curriculum vitae—weighting 20%.

The Application Ranking Form is a tool designed to aid the reviewer in:

- Evaluating all assigned applications according to a uniform set of principles,
- Giving an oral presentation of the application during the review meeting, if necessary

Ranking and Scoring

To ensure consistency, CNF expects reviewers to adhere to a common scale. It is important that reviewers use the full scale and apply a consistent convention in assigning ratings. CNF encourages reviewers to exercise their judgment, and relies on their expertise to identify promising applications.

Review Meeting

- The Chair will determine whether conflicts of interest exist and the preferred order of review.
- All applications for each level of study will be evaluated before the applications for other levels will be considered (i.e., all TD applications, all baccalaureate and IEN student applications, all master student applications, etc.).
- Using the scoring results generated by the coding in the FluidReview application site, the reviewers assigned to the application will have an opportunity to speak to their scoring.
- If assigned reviewers cannot reach a consensus, a third committee member will be asked to rate the application. Original reviewers are not bound to their original scores.
- These scores will be entered into the electronic work sheet.
