SUPPORTING NURSES TO SUCCEED

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

- 19 Nursing certification awards
- 2 Indigenous nurses funded to attend the Dorothy Wylie Leaders Institute

NEW SCHOLARSHIPS THAT INSPIRE

▶ Melvin Kellie Award established to ensure nurses in Alberta or NWT/Nunavut receive training to provide exceptional care for families in palliative care.

"This is a small gesture to ensure that my step-dad's memory lives on and other families can experience the compassion and kindness that was shown to our family." Shawna Tohm

▶ Doug Thomson Certification Award established to provide support to Manitoba nurses for certification in hospice, palliative and/or gerontology nursing.

"Dad was someone who turned 'good into great' in everything he did and then fittingly moved on to coach others. His appreciation for the nursing care he received inspired this award to become reality." Thomson family

▶ Anita George Memorial Nursing Award supporting Indigenous student nurses.

"Upon Anita's retirement, she spent much of her time volunteering in the Ottawa area, and was intrigued with the idea of encouraging and supporting Indigenous student nurses to return to help their home communities. Her family is pleased to assist in making Anita's idea a reality!" Bill Steers

Honoring a loved one

This past year CNF was part of something beautiful. We helped families and communities honor someone who touched their lives through a CNF nursing scholarship or award. From an outstanding community leader, a father, to nurses who exemplified what this amazing profession is all about- providing excellent care and compassion to people at their most vulnerable.

From a nurse and teacher in Canada's north whose family wanted to honour her passion for lifelong learning, to a man whose family and colleagues recognized not only his contribution to his community but the nurses who so exceptionally cared for him in his dying days.

From a nurse who recognized the need to support nursing care in Indigenous communities to a daughter who wanted to honour a father's unconditional love and pay tribute to the knowledgeable and compassionate nurses whose holistic approach to care eased the burden of her dad's final days.

These newly established scholarships and awards are now helping support other nurses following in the footsteps of their colleagues - what an amazing gift! What a wonderful way to honor a loved one and contribute to the care of others in their time of need!

CNF salutes these families and these nurses and hopes that their wisdom will inspire and ignite the same passion in others in communities across the country. What an opportunity to honour someone dear to them, someone who made a difference in their lives, someone whose memory must live on. And what better way than through recognizing those very individuals whose undevoted commitment to excellence in care and compassion helps each and every one of us at every stage of our lives.
